

Success Stories

Forage Management Tips with Tight Supplies was newsletter sent to ruminant livestock producers in the fall of 2007 to help them manage their forage supplies through the winter. A small beef producer shared the information in the newsletter helped him maintain his cow herd in good condition through the winter. The producer indicated that being able to keep his cow herd provided enough income for him to pay his property taxes.

Mike Ferree

I took "Exploring MyPyramid with Professor Popcorn" into Beacon Afterschool Programs in Bartholomew County. One teacher reports that it was such a great and fun experience for all involved. Now her students can successfully identify the differences between fruits, vegetables, meats & beans, dairy, breads, and fats groups.

Kristi Price

---

PURDUE AGRICULTURE

It is the policy of the Purdue University Cooperative Extension Service that all persons have equal opportunity and access to its educational programs, services, activities, and facilities without regard to race, religion, color, sex, age, national origin or ancestry, marital status, parental status, sexual orientation, disability or status as a veteran. Purdue University is an Affirmative Action institution. This material may be available in alternative formats.