2021 Quarterly Report

July - September (Q3)

Indiana 4-H Youth Development

“Soccer & 4-H @ Home” in Spanish and English, for grades 3-10, was a summer program for 500 Indianapolis youth. Indiana, Florida and Missouri 4-H programs reported over 4,000 active online users from May to July. Youth learned facts about soccer sports history, food production and agriculture, how to prepare new healthy recipes, careers related to the sports industry, and techniques that promote well-being.

Agriculture & Natural Resources

The North Central Climate Collaborative (NC3) training webinars had over 1,000 participants and 680 website/YouTube views. Extension professionals and partners gained knowledge and confidence to share information and programs, and public participants gained knowledge, confidence to discuss, and intended to act regarding climate change for their farm, operation, family, or community.

Community Development

American Citizen Planner - Indiana prepares participants to make decisions, work with policies, and improve engagement in local planning. Participants gained confidence to apply concepts of public land use and communicate plan commission activities with their communities. Most participants passed the exam and earned the Master Citizen Planner Certificate.

Health & Human Sciences

“Where Does Your Money Go?” participants learned to think differently about how they manage their money. With estimated median spending leaks of $4,413, participants reported money could be used instead to start saving or paying off bills. Indiana families’ new financial skills help them spend and save money more effectively.
