FOREST MANAGEMENT FOR THE PRIVATE WOODLAND OWNER

Workshop Information

Forests cover nearly 20% of Indiana, and approximately 85% is in private ownerships like farms and families. Less than 20% of those owners have a forest management plan to guide them in the sustainable management of their property. Forests provide multiple ecologic, economic, and societal benefits, but may not be realizing their potential due to poor or no management activity, and threats like invasive plant species and pests. Indiana forests also support an important forest products industry, employing thousands of people and supporting many rural communities. Private forestland owners are often unaware of the resources and assistance available to them for realizing their property management goals.

Forest Management for the Private Woodland Owner provides 8 evening indoor sessions and 2 field tours providing information on the biology and management of Indiana woodlands. Instruction is provided by Purdue Extension specialists and natural resource professionals. Sponsored by Purdue Forestry and Natural Resources Extension and Indiana DNR Division of Forestry

The workshop will be held Thursdays, from 6:00-9:00 PM Eastern, from March 6 to April 24, 2025 at the John S. Wright Center, 1010 N 725 W, West Lafayette, IN 47906

Regular registration includes all learning sessions, a flash drive containing information supporting the sessions, handouts, and a tree measuring stick.
$50 each

Guest registration includes all learning sessions and handouts at the sessions.
