Educators Corner...

Dear Friends,

I'm excited to share our new newsletter format, designed to highlight all the wonderful things Purdue Extension is doing in LaGrange County. While many know me from 4-H, our office also includes Health and Human Sciences (HHS) and Agriculture and Natural Resources (ANR) Educators, each offering valuable programs for our community.

As part of Purdue's Land-Grant mission, our goal is to provide research-based knowledge that helps improve lives and strengthen our community. Whether through 4-H, health and wellness programs, or agriculture, we are here to support you.

We know that many of you may not realize how Extension is funded. Our work is made possible through a mix of federal, state, and local support, including the continued backing of the LaGrange County Council and Commissioners. Their support allows us to continue offering programs and resources that are important to you.

This new format aims to make all of Extension's work more visible and accessible. Thank you for being a part of our Extension family—we look forward to continuing to serve you!

Warmly,

Brittany Gilger
County Extension Director - 4-H Youth Educator

Spotlight:

Tour Date: April 2 - 8:30 a.m.

Miller Poultry states: "Raising all-natural chicken has been our passion for over 40 years! We are family-owned and always have been, dating back to 1974 when we made the switch from raising turkeys to raising chickens. Over the decades, we have grown, but we still maintain the hands-on approach and family values we are known for. We carefully monitor every step, from the production of the eggs to the hatchery, all the way to the processing facility – making Miller Poultry truly an "egg to table" operation."

Bird Flu is Nearby: Be Ready!

If you have a hobby poultry flock, consider signing up for Indiana Board of Animal Health Alerts! These alerts are very helpful with the Highly Pathogenic Avian Influenzas (HPAI) creeping around the area. How to sign up?

First, if you do not have a Premise ID for your flock, sign up here: <https://www.in.gov/boah/traceability-and-premise-id/>. This will send you an alert when new outbreaks are announced.

Second: You can adjust your preferences to include poultry, dairy, swine, and other livestock disease issues at <https://cloud.subscription.in.gov/signup?depid=546006767>

Produce Grower Programs for Winter 2025

Two meetings are scheduled for area produce and fruit growers in February.

Because we have seen an uptick in serious disease issues in the region, we will be hosting a Disease Control Program on Feb 17 from 6 to 9 pm at the Elkhart County Fairgrounds. Growers will learn about techniques to limit disease issues both before and after planting the crop. PARP credit will be available for those with a Private Pesticide License.

The second meeting on Feb. 25 is the Produce Safety Alliance Training. Also known as FSMA (pronounced FIZ-ma) this is important if you sell produce to the public. If you have taken the training before, you may want to attend because the rule has been updated. The food safety laws require growers to follow specific steps, including the ability to trace produce back to the farm of origin. The training includes worker safety, using manure and compost around vegetables, sanitation, water use for both irrigation and post-harvest. The cost is free! Normally it is $125/person, however, grant funding is paying for the training. Locally it will be held at the David Fry farm southeast of Lagrange from noon until about 8 pm. Call our office at 260-499-6334 for more info and to make a reservation.
